

Globe-Trotters Returning Home

BY W. DWIGHT BURROUGHS.

BIG OCEAN VESSELS CROWDED WITH EXCURSIONISTS WHO HAVE BEEN ABROAD.—THE SHIPS THAT PASS THROUGH THE MAILS.

The grand rush for home is on. The tens of thousands of Americans who have spent their vacations and millions of dollars abroad are racing back to this grand old country, that after all is dear to each one of them. The big ocean greyhounds are bringing back the crowds as fast as they can make the trip back and forth. At New York and every other ocean port on the Atlantic coast and at San Francisco on the Pacific, the eager home comers, fresh from their extensive sight-seeing tours to the far ends of the earth, are pouring from the great mail steamers, thankful to be again in the land of the free and the home of the brave.

To one who has the opportunity to watch them, an interesting study are these returning crowds. And an interesting study are those sturdy steam vessels that cross the seas with their precious cargoes of human freight, as well as with their multitudinous sacks of valuable mail.

SHIPS THAT PASS THROUGH THE MAILS.

esting study are those sturdy steam vessels that cross the seas with their precious cargoes of human freight, as well as with their multitudinous sacks of valuable mail.

An Interesting Study.

There is another interesting study, too, in these ships that pass through the ocean mails. They picture the postage stamps that portray vessels of this and other lands and that do a valuable service in carrying the world's letters. The ship postage stamps are numerous and they have performed yeoman service. Among the most notable of these stamps are those of the Buffalo Exposition stamps of this country, the 1-cent showing a fast-going vessel on the Great Lakes, and the 10-cent showing a brave ocean traveler. An early local stamp of this country shows a queer little steamship, that would be a curiosity nowadays.

American ship stamps include the very by famous explorers and discoverers in their voyages to unknown realms. The ships of Vasco de Gama, of Prince Henry, the Navigator, of John Cabot, of Columbus, and of others are duly presented on various stamps.

Many Oddities Shown.

There are many oddities among the vessels that are used in illustrating the world's postage stamps. One Chinese stamp shows the vessel known as the "Junk." Another from the same great shows a dragon boat, used in the annual river festival in memory of a Chinese statesman and hero, Kih Yuen. The Colombian republic has a picture of its little war vessel, the Cartagena, while the Congo Free State has a peculiar stamp picture illustrating its dismal way up the Congo river. Sailing vessels have always been especially favorites of the stamp engraver. One of the oddest ship stamps is that of Malta, showing the wreck of a vessel.

ten out by the United States when the Hudson-Fulton celebration was held a few months ago. On the same stamp it will be recalled that there was shown an Indian canoe.

Show Progress Made.

All these types have an interest in connection with the return to America of the multitude of tourists who have been enjoying the summer abroad. They show in remarkable contrast the progress that has been made by man in navigating the seas in annihilating distance and accomplishing comfort and speed. It is an important fact that the paths that are now followed by the gigantic and magnificently appointed ships of the present age were opened by the crude passage of our forefathers, and that the vessels of the sea in ships years ago. And these lessons are driven home with no greater force than through the stamp ship pictures.

Postmaster General Denies a Wedding

BY CONSTANCE CARRUTHERS.

By Leased Wire to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, who is a member of President Taft's "dancing cabinet," and who denies that he is to wed Mrs. Jacob Stickney, is going to be one of the leading social figures in Washington official life during the coming season. Mr. Hitchcock is not going to retire from President Taft's cabinet, and I learn that he is making arrangements for an aggressive social campaign. Mr. Hitchcock is a social success. The manner in which he gained political recognition indicates that he will shine brilliantly in society. The London rumor that Mr. Hitchcock and Mrs. Stickney were to marry was denied by the former, although Mrs. Stickney has had no word to say about it. Mrs. Stickney, when in America, lives at Breton Woods, N. H. She is very wealthy, and her real estate holdings alone total $15,000,000. She is now abroad. When the postmaster-general was in London he was very attentive to Mrs. Stickney. She is taking the cure at Bad Kissingen and will shortly return to this country. Every September she entertains a great number of guests at her New Hampshire home. Mrs. Stickney is a widow, and, since her husband's death, America has seen but little of her.

Still in Summer Homes.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Meyer and the Misses Meyer have returned to their summer home in Hamilton, Mass., after a stay at Newport. The British Ambassador and Mrs. James Bryce, who have been the guests of Mrs. Loring at Hyde's Crossing, have returned to the summer embassy at Dublin, N. H. Mrs. Russell A. Alger of Michigan, widow of the late Secretary Alger, has sailed for Europe where she will remain for several months. Mrs. Alger is a prominent social figure, both here and in Detroit, where she resides.

Changes in Diplomatic Corps.

The Turkish ambassador is still in town. There will be many changes in the diplomatic corps at the beginning of the season, the most notable in the legation from Ecuador. The new minister, Don Rafael Maria Arizaga, has an entirely new staff, all the members of which are strangers in Washington. The diplomatic list has a different appearance with the Carbo, formerly accredited to Ecuador, absent. The former minister and Mrs. Carbo have three beautiful and interesting daughters, all of whom are present.

whom were presented to society during the past three seasons, and their two sons were first and second secretaries of the legation. They will continue their residence in Washington this season.

Will Be Missed.

The interesting Gude girls, daughters of the late minister from Norway, and Miss Gude, widow of the minister, will be greatly missed. They are again in their own country, and Mr. Gude's successor has been appointed in H. H. Bryn, who was counselor of the Norwegian legation in Paris. He has not arrived here.

An Interesting Couple.

The most interesting bride and bridegroom this year in the diplomatic corps will be Mr. and Mrs. Boris de Struve of the Russian embassy. Miss de Struve was Miss Eleanor Slater of this city. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Slater of Providence, R. I. Mr. de Struve and Miss Slater were married last fall in Europe and have remained abroad ever since. They returned to this country last month and have been at the Slater summer home at Beverly, Mass. Miss de Struve was regarded as one of the most attractive and more distinctive figures in Washington society when she was presented at a brilliant ball.

Brief Mention.

Lieutenant von Brunn of the German embassy and Gabrielle Perotti, attaché of the Italian embassy, and Prince Henri de Ligne, attaché of the Belgian legation, have been in the city. Mr. Arosemena, the popular bachelor minister from Panama, will return here the last of this month and start with his staff, to attend the centennial celebration in Mexico as representative of the Panama government.

From Sickness to "Excellent Health."
